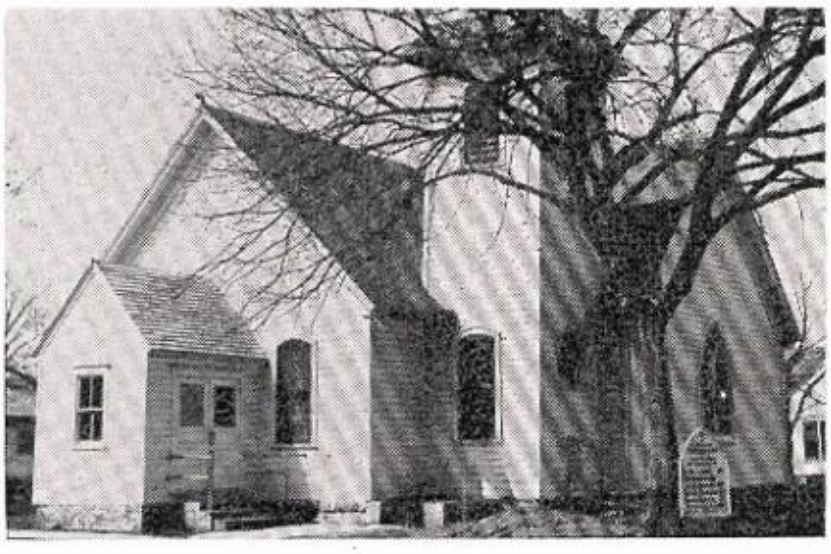
DEDICATION

We, the Seniors of 1947, dedicate this annual to the faithful stewards of the Churches who are working endlessly for World Peace so that we may have a better place in which to live.



MEMORIAL GIFT

Our class presented da Vinci's, "The Last Supper," to G. E. H. S. as a memorial gift.

Blessed are the Peacemakers: For they shall be called the children of God.-- Matt. 5-9.

DAD - DAUGHTER FROLIC

A very enjoyable party took place at the Grade School Auditorium Monday, March 31, when the Y-Teen girls and their dads gathered there to enjoy an evening of fun together.

Candle, balloon, potato, and egg relays proved very exciting. The girls played against their dads in volley ball and basketball. Several other games were played.

Each girl brought a sack lunch and the Y-Teen service committee served an ice-cold drink.

Everyone greatly enjoyed the evening.

MOTHER - DAUGHTER BANQUET

The Y-Teens of Glen Elder High School entertained their mothers and the Y. W. C. A. members at a Mother Goose Banquet on May 8.

The room was decorated with Mother Goose characters and blue and white streamers. Each table was decorated with water sprinklers as nut cups, miniature Mother Goose characters, tall candles, and bouquets of carnations.

The Y. W. C. A. mystery mothers brought gifts and revealed their daughters. In return they were each given a carnation. Carnations were also given to each of the Y-Teen girls' mothers.

The Junior and Senior boys acted as waiters.

The program was as follows:

HOT LUNCH

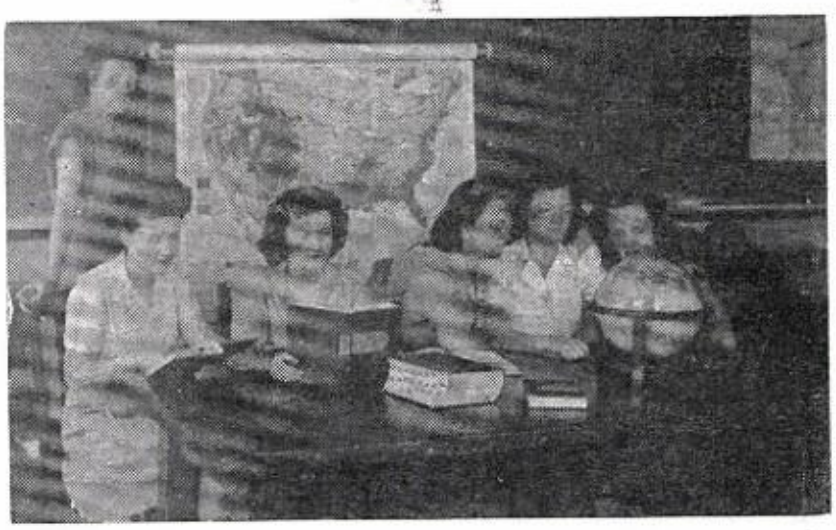
The P. T. A. sponsored a hot lunch at noon for the students of the grades and high school. An average of over one hundred plates were served each day.

The three ladies who prepared these nourishing meals were Mrs. Meril Weidenhaft, Mrs. Vinton Applebee, and Mrs. Dewey Anderson.

IN THE CLASSROOMS

Projects for sewing this year included dishtowels, pajamas, print projects according to materials available. Mrs. Clover was the teacher.

Five students were enrolled in the Normal Training course this year. Four of these five plan to teach next year. Most of the classes were taught by Miss Griffeth.



Health students received First Aid instructions as a part of their course. Many different types of first aid were given by Mrs. Clover, and the class gave these demonstrations at different times during the semester. Eleven students received the First Aid Certificate.

Three years of English are required of all graduates.

The three English classes were conducted by Mrs. Steele.

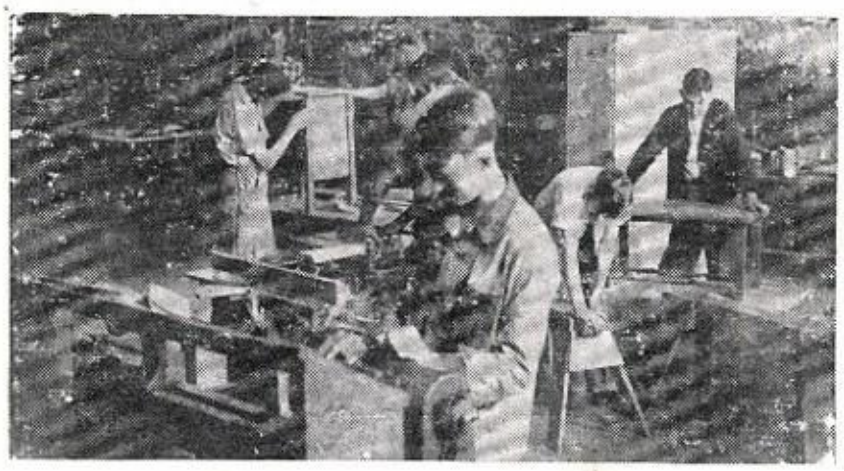
In the Classrooms

Besides printing the Hi Echoes, and the Gold and Black, our annual, the class also printed yearbooks, programs, signs, stationery and other projects for different organizations of the community. The class was conducted by Mr. Sutcliff.



The M. T. class, taught by Mr. Hampton, made tool boxes, six basketball back stops, magazine racks, fruit bowls, coffee tables, lamps, utility cabinets, etc.

Miss Griffeth directed the study of serving meals in the Foods class. Practice in serving breakfast, luncheon, and dinner was given. A special luncheon was served to the girls' mothers.

Three classes of mathematics were taught this year, Algebra, Geometry, Advanced Math., taught by Mr. Treaster.

The commercial classes were taught by Mrs. Morris. Several students were awarded John Gregg certificates in all classes.

SENIOR CARNIVAL

The Seniors of 1947 sponsored a carnival, November 22, to raise funds for the Senior sneak.

The evening's program began with the band playing several numbers. Then everyone was invited to attend the ministrel show, directed by Miss Gaston. Several numbers were presented. The two ends were "darkies" played by Joe Morris and Ronald Studer. At the close of the program, Mrs. Morris introduced Mephisto, the class mascot, who gave the audience quite a horse laugh.

Everyone then came to visit the "Midway" where they bought confetti, paper hats, "hot dogs," and what have you. They played bingo, visited the fortune teller, the art gallery, the hobby show, museum, and the Mexican Garden where Mexican food was served. Others threw balls at milk bottles, fished in the pond, sent telegrams, or just had a good social time with their friends.

The House of Terror was a very popular place, where Charley Wiss, the wild man, made chills and shivers tingle up many people's spines.

There were sixteen hobby displays in the Hobby Show with Mrs. Frank Humes winning the adult prize for her salt and pepper shakers, and John Bookless, the children's prize with his models.

Other attractions were the turkey raffle, with Ruth Ann Reid, Dwight Timbers, and Leo Wagner as winners, the cake-walk where there were ten lucky winners, and the crowning of the carnival queen.

Dortha Mae Weidenhaft, a senior, was crowned queen and presented with a Parker pen as a souvenir. Her attendents, Reta Stuart, junior; Joan Porter, sophomore; and Joyce Neifert, freshman, were given corsages of white carnations.

The seniors wish to express their appreciation to each of you for your wonderful support and contributions which made their carnival a success.

SALUTATORY

Classmates, Faculty, Parents, Board of Education and other Friends:

Under the title of salutatorian, it has become my privilege to extend to you the pleasure and delight of the class of 1947 in having you here with us this evening and to welcome you to our commencement exercises.

Tonight marks another milestone in our journey through life, the end of our high school days. It is indeed a happy occasion, but still our hearts are sad because tomorrow each of us will go his way. To some it will mean the commencement of higher educational work, to others the beginning of business life or home cares. Nevertheless, we hope never to stop learning whether in school or out. Our task now will be to make use of the education we have acquired to put forth our best efforts in every way possible to further the progress of this great country.

Our high school days have been filled with joy and happiness along with a great deal of hard work, and they will linger forever in the memories of each and everyone of us. We realize that it has been through the efforts, thoughtfulness, and co-operation of our teachers, parents, and friends that these past four years at G. E. H. S. have been very educational as well as enjoyable. We sincerely thank you for your guidance and help during these years, as we shall always be grateful to you. Now as I close, again I wish to say, we welcome you.

--Charlene Kohler

VALEDICTORY

"We build the ladder by which we climb."

Classmates and Friends:

The motto of the twenty-three Seniors of the class of 1947 is, "We build the ladder by which we climb." Throughout our school year you, through your sacrifices and help, have been helping us build our ladders. Graduation from high school is perhaps one of the most important rungs in our ladders. By placing this rung in our ladders tonight, we ended a part which, if we have accepted its offered opportunities and resulting experiences to the utmost, will help us build higher ladders to the planes of success, happiness and good citizenship.

We, as the citizens of tomorrow, must do our best to promote peace in this new Atomic Age by giving full, intelligent support to our churches, school, homes and our local, state, and national governments. We have perhaps a more difficult task and a more important challenge to meet than has had any generation of young people who have gone before, that of preserving this world in its entirety for our children and grandchildren.

Our ladders are not complete--indeed they never can be, but although sad at the thought of leaving our underclassmates, the halls that seem a part of us and all the little things that mean so much, we are happy, awed, and perhaps a little afraid of the challenge that awaits us--that of securing and maintaining peace--peace of mind, soul and body for the people and nations which will follow us.

With these thoughts we leave you with a thankfulness to you in our hearts which we can never express.

--Evelyn Steele

AND IN THE YEAR 2022

Ah, what have we here? A grave yard in a far corner of the world. Amid tangled briars and weeds gray tombstones loom forward. But look--such strange inscriptions, "Father Time 1892, Father Time, 1929, 1930, 1940, and there that large one Father Time 1947! Seventy-five years ago he passed on leaving twenty-three G. E. H. S. Seniors with only memories. We touch the headstone and call softly, "Awake, Father 1947, arise and make your way around the earth and bring us a report on the lives of that brilliant class of animated students." Father 1947 rises mistily, and whispers softly, "Sleep, I will return presently." Here is the report he brought:

I spirited myself over much country until, while passing over a country grave yard, I saw the spires of the city in the distance. I sank down on a tombstone to rest and noted the inscription. It read, "Sir Richard Dean, millionaire playboy, who married John's other wife, and who wouldn't open the door." Off to a good start, I thought to myself, and continued toward the city.

I entered a large park and came face to face with a huge bronze statue of two tired looking women. The inscription on the base read, "Joy Forster and Berta Lou McFarland, pioneers of education and aggressive in working for the rights of under privileged students burdened with tests." I spied a newspaper, yellow with age, caught in a crevice of the statue. The date was 1972 and the headlines read " B. J. Ahlvers, greatest woman scientist since Madame Kilroy, has discovered an astounding remedy for fatuitousness. Her helpmate, Martha Betz, upon whom the remedy was tried, lost fifty pounds in three days by eating a certain kind of horse-radish soup. I also read an article by Robert L. Weidenhaft, the world famous bachelor and bookkeeping expert. He expounded a new theory called the Weidenhaft Edict. The theory was; if you want to be "rolling in the dough" take up baking, not bookkeeping.

Leaving the park, I passed an office building, where pert stenographers were pounding away on the Weidenhaft Special, perfected by the renowned typist, Marjorie Weidenhaft. Farther on, I passed the Weidenhaft School of Shorthand founded in 1962 by Dorotha Mae Weidenhaft.

I picked up a newspaper, hot off the press, and in the Fifty Years Ago Today column, I read of a banquet given by society's number one matron, Geneva Neifert, in honor of the World famous authority on American History, Newell Eberle. The entertainment was provided by Ruby Cooper and her "Tromboneneers."

Flitting along, I reached New York City and entered the cool halls of Carnegie Hall. There I found two busts done in gold plate of Arleta White and Virgina Shoemaker dubbed by critics as the best cowgirl duet team of the twentieth century. In Europe they were known as the "Two Sharps." Picking up a current magazine I became deeply interested in an article written as a tribute to the late Donna J. Jones, a social worker who was instrumental in cleaning up of the slum area of the great western metropolis, Solomon Rapids. Leaving the Hall to get my bearings, I investigated and found that the street I was on was known as Clark Street, named for Emojean Clark, who compounded a recipe for the Clark-X-Candy bar, containing cod liver oil.

While passing along the street, I was almost deafened by a radio announcer who expostulated: "The record for the mile run, set by Duane Fleetfoot Wiss in 1951, has just been broken by Turtlepace Timbers Tuttle, grandson of Bernita Timbers Tuttle, noted woman equestrian." I sighed almost audibly to myself, "These '47ers surely got around fast."

I wafted myself into a nearby library and soon became engrossed in a book titled "How to Raise Cane and Grow Lazy," written by Cecil Winkel, the most noted agriculturist of his day.

Finding the library rather stuffy, I decided to visit the old home town of these '47ers. There I found the local high school team receiving the Studer Cup in matching pennies. Both the cup and pennies were furnished to county tournaments in the will of the late coach, Max Studer. In spiriting by a small music store, I noticed a sign reading "Songs by Charlene." From a conversation of two anile women I learn that a book of priceless compositions by Charlene Kohler, titled "It's All Wet," had been recently discovered in an old well. On a billboard just outside the city, I read "Use Virginiae Alberte Lipstick -- won't smudge, won't rub off, won't get you a man! On another billboard I read, "Get your pure blooded alley cats from the Steele cat farm, founded by the reposed Evelyn J. Steele in 1999.

One more to go, I thought happily to myself. Where will I find him? As I floated lazily across the Solomon, I spied a white bearded fisherman drowsing on the bank. I flitted close and from a vest pocket I saw a bottle protruding. The label read "Live-long pills by Chas. Fisher." Then I came back here to resume my well deserved rest. If you'll be so kind as to leave me alone .....

OUR LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the members of the Senior Class of 1947 of the Glen Elder High School being of long experience within these walls, and having only a few short hours to dwell among the trials and tribulations of our High School days, do hereby make, publish, and declare this to be our last will and testament.

Clause I: We request that the Freshmen collect all wads of gum, our unused textbooks and the key to all the examinations that have been given us during our High School days, forming of them a monument to our Senior Class. This monument to be placed in the center of Study Hall, to encourage the Freshmen to follow the good examples we have set for them.

Clause II: We will the Sophomores, provided that they show any signs of intelligence by the time they reach the Junior year, the honor to entertain the Seniors at an elegant and expensive banquet.

Clause III: We will to our friends, the Juniors, the honor of graduating some day provided that they study as diligently and make as splendid grades as we did.

Clause: IV: We will to the Janitor, since he has been our chum, the task of sandpapering and revarnishing all the desks in the building, thereby removing all signs and traces of initials and clever sayings we have scratched and cut into the desks.

Clause V: We bequeath to the faculty the problem of guiding the underclassmen down the paths of good examples we set for them.

Clause VI: We will, as individuals, the following:

I, Bonnie Ahlvers, will my ability to give interesting and comical readings to Geneva Rarick, knowing that she will make good use of it.

I, Virginia Albert, will my quiet and dignified ways to Freeda Luckey, knowing that she will never use them as I did.

I, Martha Betz, will to Alice Wiss my studious ways, hoping that she will do as well as I did.

I, Emojean Clark, will my many out of town boy friends to Mary Betz knowing that she will never have as many as I did.

I, Ruby Cooper, will my steady boy friend to anyone who thinks they can take him away from me.

I, Richard Dean, will my wavy black hair to Bill Eberle, knowing that his will never be as curly as mine.

I, Newell Eberle, will my slow and steady ways to Joe Morris, hoping that they will take him as far as they did me.

I, Charley Fisher, will my ability to "hold that line" to Junior Woods.

I, Joyce Forster, will my time spent in front of a mirror to Barbara Vint.

I, Donna Jones, will my power, dignity and stay-at-home ways to Arlene Slate, if she will not use them until she is a Senior.

I, Charlene Kohler, will my ability to be drum majorette to Ruthie Breitweiser.

• Gold and Black • 1947 •

I, Berta Lou McFarland, will my ability to play the trombone to anyone who thinks he can take my place.

I, Geneva Neifert, will my Normal Training ability to Joan Porter, hoping that she will study as hard as I have.

I, Virginia Shoemaker, will my singing talent to Marilyn Bookless, knowing that she will use it.

I, Evelyn Steele, will my ability to know all the answers in American History Class to Lois White.

I, Max Studer, will my size 12 Football shoes to Edgar Shoemaker if he can keep them on.

I, Bernita Timbers, will my ability to become a good Cheerleader to Phyllis Merrill, knowing that she can never be as full of pep as I was.

I, Dorotha Mae Weidenhaft, will my typing speed to Joy Munsey, knowing that she will use it to the best of her ability.

I, Marjorie Weidenhaft, will my ability to be the fastest runner and the first girl to dinner every day to Winifred Carpenter, knowing she can never break my records.

I, Robert Weidenhaft, will my car to Howard Cooper if he thinks he can drive it as well and as much as I did.

I, Arleta White, will my friendliness and good naturedness to anyone who thinks they need them.

I, Cecil Winkel, will my shy smile and bashful ways to Ron Studer, knowing that he can use them.

I, Duane Wiss, will my good looks and ready wit to anyone who thinks he can be as and popular as I was.

In witness whereof, we the Senior Class of 1947, have affixed our fingerprints, with the following:

AN HOUR OF MEMORY

A famous four-year voyage to four great planets of the Universe began in 1943 aboard the jet-propelled plane, G. E. H. S., and painted in the colors of blue and silver.

At the take-off of the first year on a September day in 1943, this party of twenty-nine adventurers packed their baggage and started out, little knowing if they would ever see their friends and homes again. Here we have a picture of the travelers as they are ready to bid farewell. They selected for their motto, "We Build the Ladder by Which We Climb."

Oh, what a day of excitement when they began to go aboard their blue and silver plane! 'Twas quite a picturesque scene seeing those youngsters walking up the gangplank of G. E. H. S., their arms loaded with books, pads, pencils, and their minds with open doors in quest for the riches of Bookland.

Officials in charge were Dorotha Mae Weidenhaft as Pilot, Richard Dean as Co-Pilot, and Max Studer as Recorder and Financier. The sponsor was Miss Margaret Henry.

Their first stop was on the planet of Neptune. The bright lights of this planet spotted each Freshman and initiated them at the first Senior chapel. Their first social gathering was on Tuesday, September 28, when all members aboard enjoyed a picnic in the Lowdermilk pasture. The evening was spent playing baseball and other games. Other parties were held during this year.

Then we took off toward the second heavenly body, Jupiter. This year our Pilot was Geneva Neifert; Co-Pilot, Donna Jones; Recorder and Financier, Robert Hardesty; and sponsor, Miss Butts.

We left behind us Marjorie Wiens and Weldon Luckey, but took aboard Ruby Cooper.

One of the social events for this year was a farewell party for Robert Hardesty.

After seeing the Seniors of 1945 graduate, we began to make preparations for visiting planet number three, Venus. Leaving behind us Lou Vena Hughes, Lois Ahlvers, Rosella Fisher, Willis Bailey, and Robert Hardesty and took on Evelyn Steele, V. Ann Seidel, and Max Sutton. Donna Jones acted as Pilot; Berrita Timbers, Co-Pilot; and Charlene Kholer, Recorder and Financier. Mrs. Clover was sponsor.

This group acted as hosts and hostesses to a Senior reception for the class of 1946, amidst a Spring setting.

In the fall of 1945, twenty-three Seniors stayed together for the final trip to Mars. Another change in official staff was made with Bonnie Ahlvers as Pilot; Virginia Shoemaker as Co-Pilot; and Joyce Forster, Recorder; and Max Studer, as Financier. Mrs. Morris was sponsor. A fall Carnival was held and everyone who attended had great fun. The funds from this event were used on the sneak to Denver and Colorado Springs.

In January the class honored Mr. Sutcliff at a birthday party, presenting him a gift. In May they were guests of the Juniors at a Reception. They returned on May 20, with a diploma in hand as an award for this four-year journey.

SENIOR SNEAK

On April third at 3 p.m. a caravan of six cars bid farewell to G. E. H. S and headed for the Great West.

The party broke into groups about 6:30 p.m. and supped at Hill City and Hoxie. After having considerable tire and other car trouble and combating a heavy fog, the party arrived intermittently in Denver between 2:30 and 4:00 where we checked in at the De Soto Hotel.

Friday morning found us at the top of the State Capitol Building. We were fortunate to visit the House of Representatives while in session. From there we visited the State Museum where many relics of interest were seen and the Art Gallery with its priceless oil paintings and other masterpieces created by artistic minds.

Our excursion also included the U. S. Mint, where we were guided through the halls of this well-fortified building where we saw the minting process of different coins. Each had the privilege of lifting a $17,000 gold brick.

A high spot of this tour was the City Park with its Zoo and Museum of Natural History. Here we not only saw many different live animals in captivity, but also the skilled workmanship of taxidermists of placing nature's birds and beasts in their true setting of reality.

In the evening the group attended the picture show, "My Favorite Brunette."

Saturday morning it was announced on KOA that the Glen Elder Seniors were visiting the radio station while on their sneak. At last the secret was out (or were we missed before ?)

Following this broadcast, we began our scenic tour of the Rockies stopping at Buffalo Bill's Grave on Mt. Lookout. At noon we picnicked at Bergen Park amidst the tall pines and rustic setting.

In the afternoon we visited the famous Red Rocks Park with its new open air theater, Troutdale in the Pines, a magnificent resort, and Tiny Town.

We arrived in the evening at Manitou where we stayed at Buffalo Lodge, one of the most elite and classic lodges of the West.

We arose at 4:15 Easter morning and joined the pilgrimage of 25,000 worshipers to attend the Easter Sunrise Service in nature's own sanctuary at the Garden of the Gods.

We then visited the Cave of the Winds seeing the wondrous and rare crystal formations of the ages past.

We started homeward at 11:00, dined at Limon at 1:00, and supped in Hill City.

We announced our return to Glen Elder at 10:30 by blasting our horns as we drove around the square, with the exception of one group. They were delayed in Hoxie for repairs, but returned safe and sound to Glen Elder on Monday evening.

All expressed of experiencing a wonderful time, which shall always be a memorable recollection of their Senior year.

Drivers, their wives, and sponsors who accompanied the seniors on their sneak were the Doyle Neiferts, the Carmen Harrisons, the Dwight Timbers, the Earl Whites, the Dwight Hamptons, Mrs. Morris, and Mr. Sutcliff.

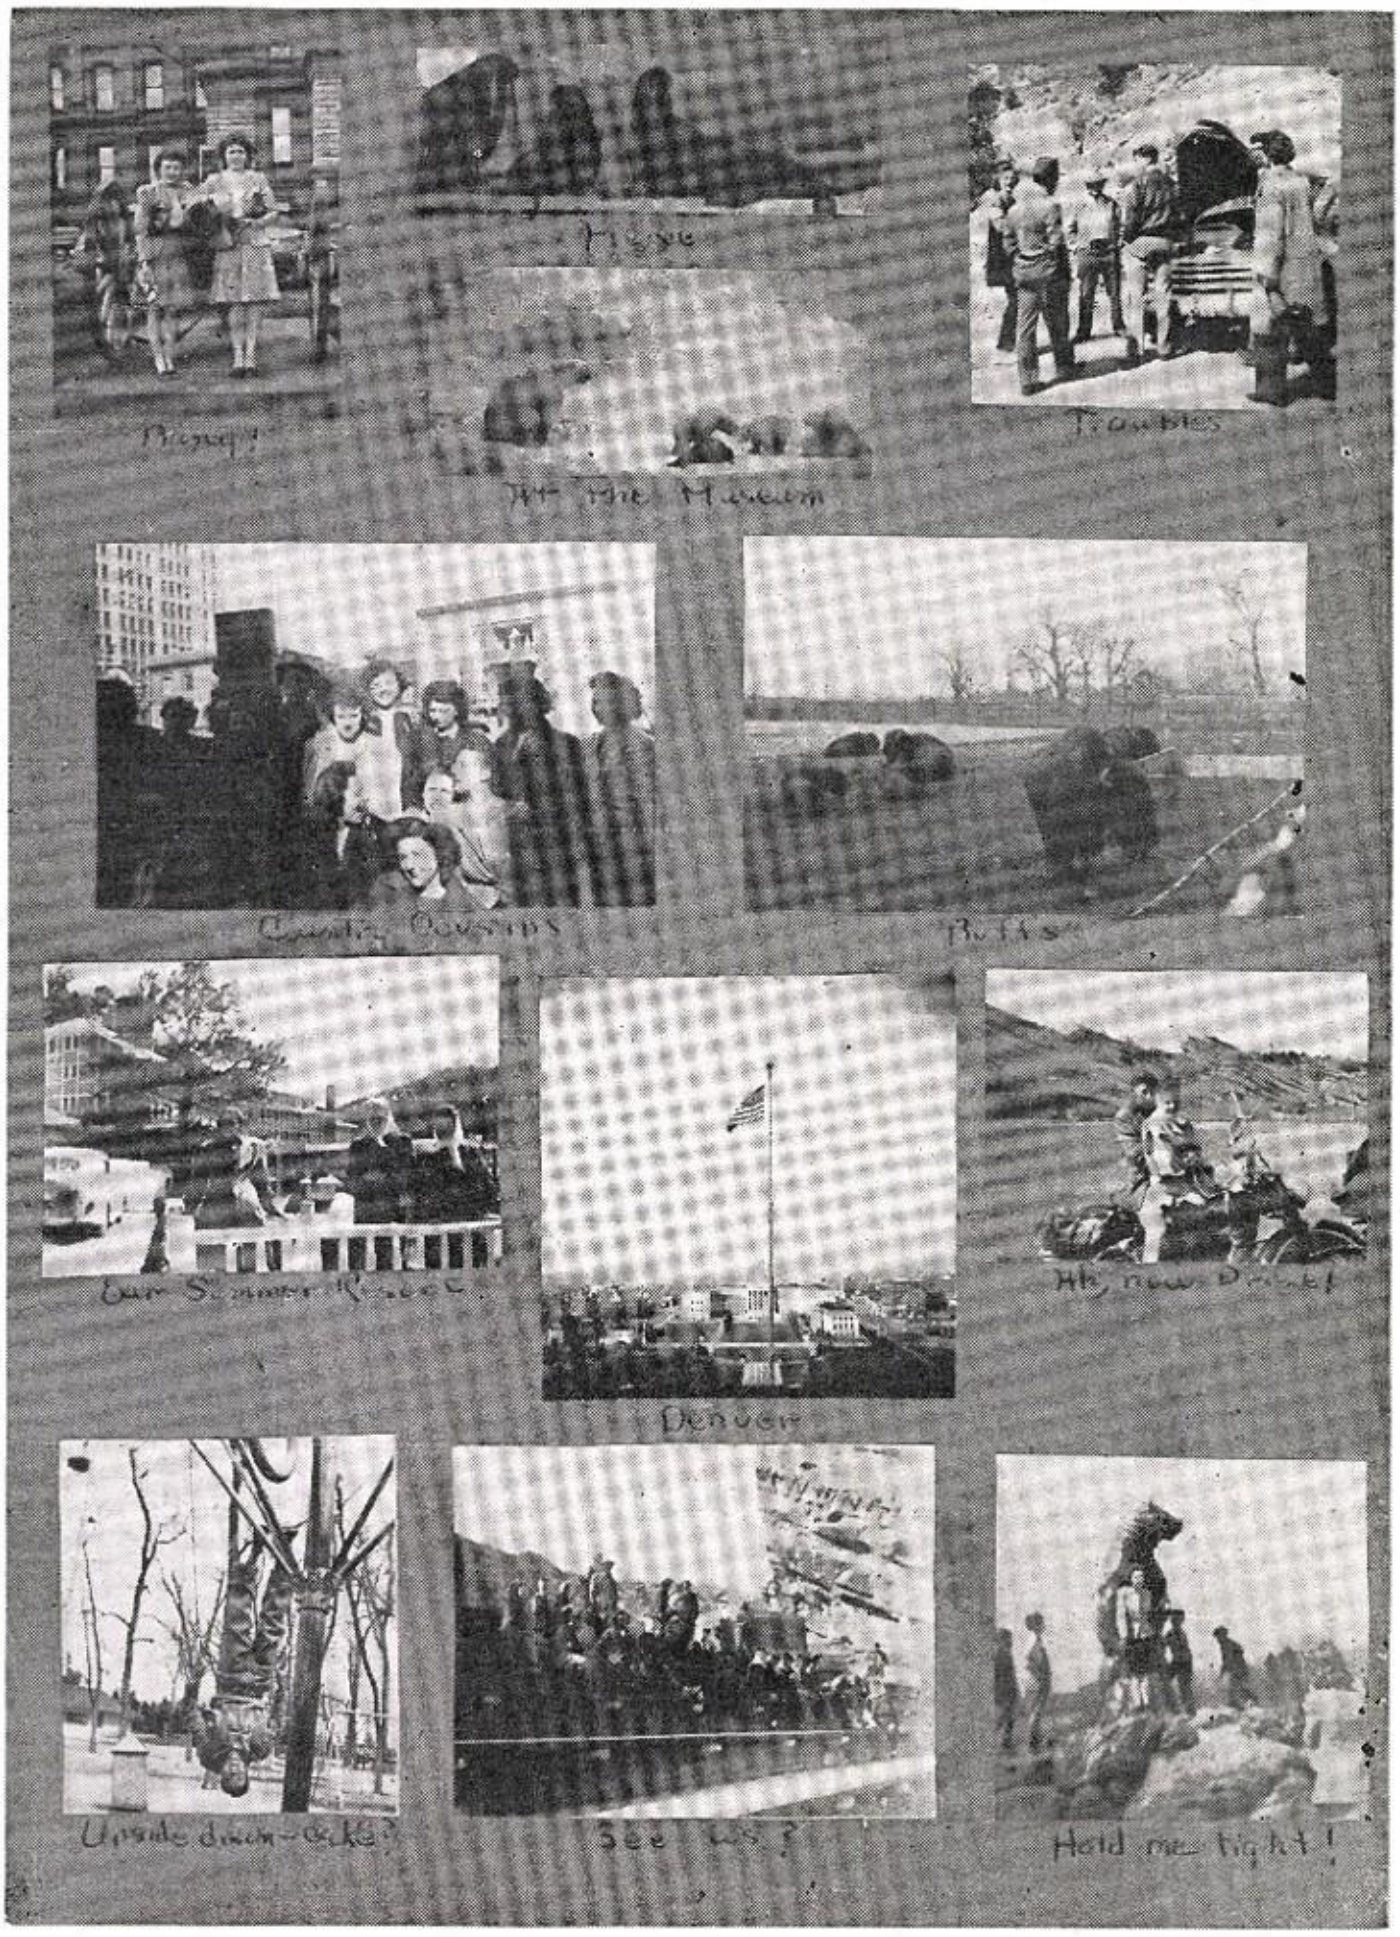
DERFUL TIME!



JUNIOR - SENIOR BANQUET

The annual Junior-Senior Banquet was held in the Grade School Social Room, May 2, 1947.

Moonlight, stars and candlelight made a very romantic setting in the Garden of Flowers.

A delicious dinner was served, consisting of Flower Nectar, Pastoral Beauty, Snowball Blossoms, Berries and Petals, Rainbows, Stepping Stones, Moss, Lover's Delight, Garden Pebbles and Murky Pool.

The following program was conducted by George Betz, Master of the Garden.

PROGRAM

Beauties of Friendship		George Betz
It Takes a Friend to Have a Friend		Bonnie Ahlvers
Vocal Duet	Old Fashioned Garden	Arleta and Lois White
Down the Garden Path		Phyllis Merrill
Trombone Solo	Mellow Moon	Ruby Cooper
Our Garden		Donna Jones
Vocal Solo	Moonlight and Roses	Arlen Treaster
Life's Garden		Mrs. Morris

CLASS SONG

Memories, memories of Glen Elder High,
They will linger with us still,
Till parting days draw nigh.
We will sit and think about good times
And friends we knew;
The memories of the school that we love,
Our dear old Glen Elder High.

Football Banquet

The members of the 1946 Football Squad and Coach Hampton were honored at a banquet given by the Chamber of Commerce on Friday, December 6.

The boys of the football squad, Coach Hampton, and other members of the faculty were seated at card tables at the east end of the auditorium. There were eleven card tables, each representing a player on the Bearcat team in the 4-3-2-2 formation. The members of the Pep Club were seated at eleven tables at the west end of the auditorium, representing the opposing team. Others who attended were seated along the sidelines.

The food was prepared by the ladies of the Y.W.C.A. and was served by the members of the Pep Club.

Judge: "What is your name?"
Joe: "Joe Stinks"
Judge: "Well, I can't say that I blame you. And what would you like to change it to?"
Joe: "Charlie."

Yumpin' Yimminy

A Swede walked into a saloon and asked for a drink of squirrel whiskey. The bartender said: "I haven't any squirrel whiskey, but have some Old Crow." The Swede said: "I don't want to fly, I yus want to yump round a little."

Beware

A guard in a lonely spot cried: "Halt!" to a man in a car, who promptly halted. "Halt!" said the guard again.
"I have halted," said the motorist.
"What do you want me to do next?"
"I don't know, said the guard "My orders are to say 'Halt!'. three times and then shoot."

Should Have Known

"I'm so sorry, it was all my fault."
"Not at all, madam. I was to blame myself."
"But I insist the fault was mine. I was on your side of the street."
"That may be true, but, my dear madam, I am responsible for the collision; I saw you coming blocks away, and had ample opportunity to dart down a side street."
